FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Mighty Bright's Newly-Enhanced Nine LED Orchestra Light

New dual brightness levels and centralized switching for superior performance

Santa Barbara, CA – January 13, 2011 – Mighty Bright announces new enhancements to its popular LED Orchestra Light, a music stand light for performing musicians introduced early 2010. The Orchestra Light improvements amplify the performing power of orchestras, ensembles, and other on-stage musical groups by providing two improved brightness levels and centralized control of the lights.

Using solid-state lighting technology, the Orchestra Light provides the widest area of coverage for up to four pages of sheet music. An upgrade to next-generation LEDs makes the Orchestra Light twice as bright as its predecessor; it boasts 100 lumens and has a lux rating of 368. It is compact, resistant to breakage, and provides an environmentally friendly light source for up to 100,000 hours of illumination.

The Orchestra Light's new sliding switch has two ON settings, allowing users to select one of two brightness settings depending on preference and lighting needs. This new mechanical switch also allows for multiple Orchestra Lights to be managed centrally by lighting technicians; when ganged to a single AC power source, the lights can be turned on and off simultaneously for consistent lighting and effects during a performance.

Mighty Bright's LED Orchestra Light Features:

- Nine eco-friendly LEDs, each four times more efficient than a 40-watt incandescent light bulb
